

A specific H3N2 influenza virus has been found in both people and pigs in many states, including Wisconsin.

People at high risk* of serious flu complications should NOT have contact with pigs or enter areas with pigs.

DON'T TOUCH

If flu is contracted by people at high risk,* serious complications are possible.

*Those at HIGH RISK include: young children, people 65 years and older, pregnant women, and people with certain chronic medical conditions (like asthma, diabetes, heart disease, weakened immune systems, and neurological conditions).

Wisconsin Department of Health Services
Division of Public Health